WILLIAM WALLACE SACKETT FAMILY

William W. Sackett came to Wyoming in 1893, where he hauled freight for his brother Jack and Mr. Skinner, for the building of the Big Horn Mercantile. He and John Fordice started freighting.

Emma Watkins came to Sheridan from Ohio in 1898 and they were married in Sheridan. They had six children, one lived only ten days. They were LeRoy O. Sackett, Ursula S. Dellit, Harold Sackett, Mabel S. Dellzell, Dorothy S. Kay, and Shirley S. Drysdale, all but LeRoy are gone. LeRoy lives $\frac{1}{4}$ mile north of the Big Horn Mercantile and Post Office.

plies and groceries for a little town that started with the building of the Park reservoir.

Mr. and Mrs. Sackett bought the Edmund Hurlbutt place at the foot of the Big Horn mountains, and owned it until 1926.

William like to hunt and fish, the love for these sports was handed down to his son LeRoy.

Mr. Sackett passed away November 25, 1915 and Emma October 10, 1960, both are buried in the Big Horn cemetery.

LeRoy married Bessie Collins, they were married at her cousin's in Sheridan, and lived on the ranch until it was sold in 1926. They then bought the Hurlbert place south of Big Horn, across the creek from the O. P. Hanna homestead. There is a sundial and apple trees where the Hanna cabin stood. The trees were hauled in by wagon and the Big Horn Women's club built the sundial. This cabin was the first one in this area.

LeRoy and Bessie had two children, Delores S. Clifton of Greybull and Kenneth L. of Newcastle.
